It will be seen from the above resumi, that as regards the people generally, misapprehensions were few and that the efforts made by the authorities in the States to allay misgivingsNwere, as a rule, entirely successful, the only exception being, that which has already been referred to, namely, the inhabitants of the wild country in the south-east of Rajputana which is the home of the Bhils and Grassias. 185. In 1881 these same people showed so strong a repugnance to being counted that they were left unenumerated: not only so, but in the case of the Meywar, the Durbar in order to allay the excitement aroused among them, promised they should never suffer by the counting of men and houses. 186. This intense dislike of the...
