CREATING ANOTHER SELF

Hardback. Book Condition: New. Not Signed; This book makes two significant literary assertions. First, that all first-person voice poetry necessarily involves a masking of some kind; and second, that all personal poetry falls into one of three masking modes: the confessional, the persona, and the self-effacing. Samuel Maio supports these claims with an in-depth analysis of the work of representative poets, three for each mode: Robert Lowell, James Wright, and Anne Sexton (confessional); John Berryman, Weldon Kees, and Galway Kinnell...

Reviews

This publication can be well worth a study, and far better than other. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. Its been printed in an exceedingly simple way and it is only soon after i finished reading through this book in which really transformed me, alter the way in my opinion.
