Excerpt: . that he was exposing his wife to such a risk. But to expose her to it at the very moment when he was expecting her within a year to become the mother of a God-given heir, argued either an astounding thoughtlessness or a no less astounding presumption. Either he acted with a disregard of probable consequences most unlike the gravity of his character, or he ventured to presume in a culpable degree on a second interposition of God. One thing, however, is certain, that Abraham sought to escape unpleasant consequences at the cost of his own self-esteem. T John Lawrence was nothing if he was not truthful; he was transparent as the day, and my highest aim has been to render to so heroically simple a character that homage which is its due--the homage of unalloyed truth. He always said. exactly what he...
