C, Clay, Jr., Of Alabama: On the Contest in Kansas, and the Plans and Purposes of Black Republicanism, Delivered in the United States Senate, April, 21, 1856 The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, having under consideration the bill to authorize the people of the Territory of Kansas to form a constitution and State government, preparatory to their admission into the Union when they have the requisite population - Mr. Clay said: Mr. President, this debate, on the part of the advocates of insurrection in Kansas, has been worthy of their cause. From its inauguration by the Senator from New Hampshire, Mr. Hale, in his furious onslaught upon the Presidents annual message, down to the attempt to foist upon the Senate the spurious memorial of the amateur Legislature at Topeka, they have displayed more personal, partisan, and sectional asperity, than I have ever witnessed on this floor. They seem not to desire to restore peace, to preserve order, and sustain the laws, but to increase dissension, create disorder, and subvert the laws of that Territory. They appear not as impartial arbiters; of this great controversy, but as zealous advocates with contingent fees Testing on its decision. Determined to know and to present but one side, they concede no violation of law, order, morality, or propriety, by their clients. Instead of exhibiting the impartiality, dignity, and sobriety of an Areopagus, in whose justice and judgment contending States may confide, they have betrayed the rancorous prejudice of sectional bigotry, and the blind passion of selfish partisanship. They have assailed the reputations not only of those who have appeared as prominent advocates of...
